To-DAY the greatest trotting match for years takes place near Portland, Maine.

Alix, who trotted a mile in 2.05 at Washington Park, Chicago, a month ago, is to meet Directum, who has a similar record. The match is for a purse of $10,000, and is in pursuance of a challenge sent by the owner of Alix to the owner of Directum, which the latter accepted.

There are men who buy clothing simply because it is cheap—and looks fairly well when they buy it. There are other men who pay extravagant prices to tailors because they are afraid they can't get fitted with ready made goods. We want everybody's trade—but we particularly want the trade of these two classes. To the first man we will sell clothing that will surprise him by wearing well and holding its shape—and he will economize by not having to buy as many articles in the course of a year. To the second man we will sell clothing that will fit, look and wear better—that is better made and better finished than that made by the average merchant tailor—at many dollars per suit less than he has been paying.

END OF THE TOURNAMENT

Final Championship Matches in Doubles and Singles Were Played Yesterday.

Botkin Played Great Tennis and Easily Won the Singles From Arnold.

Brandeges and Matteson Won the Doubles From Barker and Brooks-A Most Successful Meeting.

The state tennis tournament came to an end yesterday. The meeting has been a very great success in every way. There was not quite the representation in point of numbers as was desired, yet the enterprising delegates from the several cities were enthusiastic in the play and to them is la gely due the ancess of this, the first meeting of tennis players in the state. The out of town tennis men, most of whom returned to their homes yesterday, leave the game have on a stronger footing than ever before, and there is even now a determination to make the next tournament a greater success than the one just ended.

The first maich yesterday came off in the forenoon and was between teams composed of Brandegee, of Helena, and Matteson, of Great Falls, and Brooks and Barker, of Butte.

Brandegee and Mattison took the first set. Ecore, 7-5. The main feature of this set was the failure of Messrs. Brooks and Barker to play as a team. When one was serving the other invariably remained at the concert of the Catholic Knights of the the net and at one side, requiring his partner to cover more than two-thirds of the lice society in Montana and has many friends, which is evidenced by the sale of

Brooks' fine Lawford strokes, nest placing by Backer and errors at critical points by Brandegee and Matteson gave the third set to Brooks and Barker. Sco e, 6-4,

The third set went to Brandegee and

The third set went to Brandegee and Matteson without special features. Score, G-1.

Fourth set; Brooks and Barker seemed to realize that to lose this set carried the match with it, and gathered themselves together and gave the best exhibition of tennis playing they had yet shown, the pace being hot from the start. Barker, who, by the way, was the only player in the tournament who handicapped himself by boiding the handle of his racket at the middle, thereby losing in reach and strength of stroke, tried for everything, got somewhat nearer the center of the court and did much batter, then hartefore. Brooks
